

To effectively measure your brand's performance in AI-powered search, you should track these three key metrics:

- AI visibility score: This measures how frequently your brand is actively recommended by AI search engines 1.
- Citation share: This tracks how often your brand's content is utilized as a source to formulate AI-generated answers 1.
- Share of AI voice (vs. competitors): This evaluates how prominently your brand appears, is mentioned, or is cited in AI answers relative to your competitors 1, 2. Notably, this has become a highly prioritized metric, with 33% of B2B tech CMOs currently reporting their share of AI voice to their CEOs 3.